

STORING METHOD METADATA IN CODE

Abstract of the Disclosure

In one embodiment, the present invention includes a method for storing a method bundle in code which may 5 include method metadata and a cookie indicator to indicate the presence of method information. After such storage, a query may be performed to search for the method bundle around a queried instruction pointer.